

This is a photo of my village where I live in Slovakia.

It is in the north of Slovakia, near the Polish border. It is quite a good place to live because the nature there is very nice and everywhere is very calm.

About 2500 people live in Oravsky Podzamok. Most of them work in the wood industry and services. Oravsky Podzamok is a very small village, but I think it is a very interesting place where you can visit a nice castle, Oravsky Hrad, which you can see in the picture. There is a river called the Orava flowing next to the castle, and everywhere around you can see woods and nice countryside. You can meet friendly people there and have a really good time. Oravsky Podzamok is far away from the main city Bratislava, but it is very close to the popular mountains, Vysoke Tatry, or to Krakow in Poland.
